WAY MOVEMENTS IN FRANCE.

The Times correspondent sends the following:

"The Empire will take with him the following officers as aids-de-camp: Gen. Count de Montebello, Gen. Franchet, Gen. Lefebvre, Col. Rollis, Lieut. Col. Marquis de Toulouges, and Lieut. Col. Lépine.

Other officers will be: Lieut. Col. Pays, Chef d'Escadre Schmitz, M. de Brédy, Envoy Extraordinaire; General Moral, Envoy Extraordinaire, and Lieut. Prince Josephine Morat.

The aids and orderly officers are all personal friends of the Emperor, while three of them, Gen. Flory, Envoy Extraordinaire, and General Moral, Envoy Extraordinaire, are his constant companions.

General Moral has left his military home at Paris for the Volks-Graue, and his large practice, to accompany the Emperor as his Envoy Extraordinaire to the Congress of Berlin.

Capt. Jerome Bonaparte, who lately returned to Paris from America, has been placed by the Emperor in his place in the most dangerous position in the army. He is a body of light cavalry, over many of which is mounted on an Arab stallion, great and bold, and every moment it is driven up and thrown forward in advance of the ranks in scouting parties, and is eminently successful.

The Captain, on arriving at Paris ten days ago, left immediately for Algiers, to join his regiment, which had been sent to the frontier land at Genoa, on Sardinian territory, which is to be, on account of its proximity to France, the scene of the chief operations of the French army.

Gen. Barakhi, the youngest General of Division in the French army, and perhaps the bravest in the Mexican war, in which he commanded a volunteer cavalry company, raised a corps of 1,000 men, and, after defeating the first two Italian territories, with the army of the Alps. He is now under Marshal Cavaignac, but it is said that he will cross the line with 40,000 men before the month of June.

On the other hand, we have just learned that a portion of that terrible army of Gen. Cavaignac has been sent to the frontier land at Genoa, and takes the railway to Turin. This corps is composed of 10,000 men, and is to be followed by 15,000 more, to whom the Zouaves are gallantly added. Gen. Bertrand, in the town of Alpes, their way to Genoa, they break loose from the command of Gen. Cavaignac, and have invaded the territories that have been abandoned to the French, and of course the French army of Italy will be the signal for such a host of invasion, and of course the French army of Italy will strike terror into the ranks of the enemy."
